

Hi Everyone,

All clubs in Europe are on season end break as we speak. ANB is still in discussion with the European clubs who attended our 5th INT ID Camp, on potential players who might be heading overseas for trials, stay tuned for new updates in the near future.

Comments on results:

- Compared 2012 & 2013 for those players who participated both years
- Players can compare their own results to previous years ANB within their peer group
- High results for each group are listed (BLUE – 2012; RED – 2013)
- Some players did not participate in two consecutive years, despite good results
  - o Sometimes coaches make their own notes and want to see how players have improved year after year
- Coaches have indicated there is need for constant improvement; how players are judged one year to the next can vary dramatically
- Most of the testing was similar to previous years and good reference point on how player is improving

Comments on tests:

- There are certain "tricks" to perform well on the tests and players should research how to improve their results for following years
- Juggling should be more dynamic (i.e. above the knee; movement while juggling)
- Small sided games are subjective judging and were provided by same coaches each day
  - o Finishing SSG – coaches actually looking for finishing from players
